Status Quo, So Ends Another Life

(Lancaster)

In a world of education there's no time for compassion Life's a fire, never ending, bringing pain and then befriending And like a fire that burns no light And drifts to heaven, so ends another life

Is there time to care, it's only fair that life goes on And on and on and on 'til in the end you can't go on

So ends another life to let this world go on Don't cry for pity my friend, you never gave none

There's a hunter with his gun pointing upwards to the sun Thinks a bird can feel no pain, if it can it won't again And like a fire that burns no light And drifts to heaven, so ends another life

Is there time to care, it's only fair that life goes on And on and on and on 'til in the end you can't go on

So ends another life to let this world go on Don't cry for pity my friend, you never gave none So ends another life to let this world go on Don't cry for pity my friend, you never gave none So ends another life to let this world go on Don't cry for pity my friend .....
