

Stephen Covell, Time And Space

You'd think me a fool if I wrote you
How perfectly it's all workin' out
Would you think it rude if I wrote you
What could never come out of my mouth

Fourty miles ain't so long
For this song to wonder on
If I promise you
One day I'll wander them too

As smile lines grow
We grow up and grow apart it seems
A simple bond keeps me laughing, even when I'm growing weak

Oh and my pillow
Saves my life
'Cause I'm saving up all these dreams

But they're all for you
Because you're all I need, even when I'm falling asleep

In this modern condition, when we've lost our traditions
Boys and girls are still wishing on stars seem missing
And nobody listens

Fourty miles ain't so long
For this song to wonder on
If I promise you
One day I'll wander them too

You'd think me a fool if I wrote you
How perfectly it's all workin' out
Would you think it rude if I wrote you
What could never come out of my...
