

Sum 41, A Death In The Family

oh rescue me
oh to be blessed with this odless mistake one one day you soon wild find just a warning you're gonna pay for the abominations it's only matter of time

I wiat, I hope, I pray for better days they seem so few and far between the fear , the pain this hate's it; not for me we're not so different, can't you see your lies will tear you apart will take you alive

won't separate you at all
I tell you all your lies will tear us apart
I am calling all to arms so everyone and all it's time hear your voice you've got the right

oh rescue me
you better pray for you're commiseration you're almost out of time
just a warning
your fate is left to a different generation you know they won't be kind

your lies will tear you apart
will take you alive
won't separate you at all
I tell you all your lies will tear us apart
I am calling all to arms so everyone
and all it's time hear your voice
you've got the right

you take this hate and package it to sell to victims of you great divine you've no capacity to even feel I hope you get this through your mind because now I won't let you just break me int 2 there's no way that I would give in those words that you say of hate and dismay will lose your place in the end

your lies will tear you apart I'll tell you all your lies