

Sweet Noise, World

so you
sell yourself
do you buy the dreams
did the brand new life wash away old fears why you're on your knees clutching to your lies what have you become just a shadow of a man dancing to the beat of your hate within I'm the one you blame for your pain and fear and you burn my life
crush and break my bones burn and rape my love
want to still my home
take away respect
and the ones that hold to my ways and days and the songs those written on my skin like the blood in the veins they're the burden and chains fire always walk with me call 'em my own
those streets
like my home
I'm here all alone
just a man on his own
no their lives with no shining stars women broken bruised
women fight for life
numb is the fear for the only one want to make her safe
want to make her smile
boy brother take away your guns it's sad but true love is dead for good love is all we had love is all we lost I'm the one you blame
for your life that's lost
this is my life
this is my life
written on the walls
this is my world in this chords and words shame
shame on you
don't you know it's ain't a game
shame