Sylver, The smile has left yours eyes

Words, are sometimes hard to find Silence, can be so unkind You play with love like you play with words Can't you see it's me you've hurt Now my dreams turn into dust It wasn't love, it was only lust Chorus You're not the same You're playing game You've filled my heart with your lies You're not the same You're playing game The Smile Has Left Your Eyes Words, are sometimes hard to find Silence, can be so unkind You play with love like you play with words Can't you see it's me you've hurt Love is always losing game I pack my bags and forget your name