Take That, Beautiful World

Here standing in the rain
The sun has gone again and nothing's gonna change
Time, I need a little time as you slip out of sight
And nothing heals the pain.

And I know that it's you that's stopping me from falling Crashing down, losing ground til I see you again And you know...

The sun will shine, and we will see there's nothing standing in our way Love will stand and never break
Never thought this could be me
Do you feel what I feel?
Everytime that you are near it's a beautiful world
A beautiful world

Words are hard to keep inside Even though I've tried, impossible to hide.

And you know that it's me that's stopping you from falling Crushing down, losing ground til I see you again And you know...

I'll be the stars guiding you I'll be the place that you hide I'd run a thousand miles, a thousand miles to be by your side.
