Tammy Wynette, If You Think I Love You Now (I'v

It's nothing new for a woman to love her man Yes I know familiar story I know you'll understand And I've been loving you a long long time So I'll make you a promise I won't change my mind And you'll never be alone never broken hearted If you think I love you now I've just started

Too many times people break each other's heart By making vows that so quickly fall apart So as long as you want me by your side I'll be your woman your lover and I'll keep you satisfied And you'll never be alone... If you think I love you now I've just started