Tapping The Vein, All My Heart

There's faster ways of killing me If you needed me to bleed You didn't have to give my angel those broken knees

And if you felt you had to punish me You could have taken anything You didn't have to hang my little angel from a string

I've been calling all night And there wasn't any answer Something inside me won't let go I believe my life is over This is all that my heart can take

I could have found a way of working this out All you had to do was say Did you really think that I would rather See my light go down in chains?

I've been calling all night And there wasn't any answer Something inside me won't let go I believe my life is over This is all that my heart can take

Say he rolled over Say he's alive Say it's not over Say it's a lie

Something inside me won't let go I believe my life is over This is all that my heart...

I've been calling all night And there wasn't any answer Something inside me won't let go I believe my life is over This is all that my heart can take
