

Temperance, Darkness Is Just A Drawing

On the road again
Many questions fill up the doubtful minds of them all
What should they believe?
Can they truly trust what Faramond claims to be the truth?

Darkness's just a drawing
Made of little kingdoms
Fill them with your colours
Bring them light and life
Face the ones afraid of it, find the key to their doom

Many sentences hide their true meaning
Sometimes we just miss what they stand for
Secrets lie in the words from your mother
What do we know about the mad man?

Now you're in this realm:
Here in Hermitage we've all heard this magical words
It's a sign of force
Everybody knows that only together
We'll be safe...

Darkness's just a drawing
Made of little kingdoms
Fill them with your colours
Bring them light and life
Face the ones afraid of it, find the key to their doom

Many sentences hide their true meaning
Sometimes we just miss what they stand for
Secrets lie in the words from your mother
What do we know about the mad man?

Through the old Daruma's grooves:
Mysteries lie in cryptic words
But you can fight this darkness

What does Anningan want?
He's been searching for people like you...
There is something concealed and unknown
And we must find out what it is

What does Anningan want?
He's been searching for people like you...
There is something concealed and unknown
And we must find out what it is

Many sentences hide their true meaning
Sometimes we just miss what they stand for
Secrets lie in the words from your mother
What do we know about the mad man?

Many sentences hide their true meaning
Sometimes we just miss what they stand for
Secrets lie in the words from your mother
What do we know about the mad man?

What does Anningan want?
He's been searching for people like you...
There is something concealed and unknown
And we must find out what it is
...through the old Daruma's grooves