

Temporary Basement, Fluster

without you a room just stays an empty space it doesn't matter what is placed when all the air follows i can't remain

if you leave demolish every wall i touch extinguish all remaining fire if you cannot stay still nothing else will

if you leave much too soon my core collapses implode before i start

your silent ways
i know i want
i know i want to be so why dont you just wake me up again?

a quiet gaze
i only work from words you choose to say
so why dont you just wake me up again?

if i sleep next to you
it's all i ever do move all i can to stay pressed to you only till my heart decides a time when it can stop

if i sleep next to you
armies will follow till i lose all my wards ill never give what i can't ever have i want nothing less than you