

Ten Foot Pole, Excuses

it was the alcohol you said, took away your common sense, you dont remember a thing, unconsciousness is your defense, its everybodys fault but your,
and now we must forgive, how can you hold a grudge, when you cant remember what you did?

but, its not so easy to forgive, no matter what you said, its not so easy to forget, it wont just go away,
it will never be the same, you'll never drink that much again, those intentions sound just great, and im glad to see youve learned, i think its just a little too late