

The Anniversary, I Believe That The End Of The

released on the Vagrant Record's compilation Another Year on the Streets

Clothes make the man and looks
I am nothing but books and heart
Walk like a killer, talk like a priest
This is my dream - my destiny
Those nightmares that you've seen seem like such a dream to me

Scream you wanna go back again a time
Alas the king of sorrow - go off with him tomorrow
Please please tell me what those crazy months were
I can't remember - we prayed for stormy weather
To watch you dance

Silence - as we grow old
And I will never forget who you are I'm counting things I have forgotten so far

All your patience has withered - withered away
The love beside you will fight and struggle to stay
All your patience has withered - withered away
The love beside you will fight and struggle to stay

Throw your arms up in the air
It's the man who stands behind the curtains who should be feared
And never forget your proof
For it suits you to know the truth
