

The Bear Quartet, Blizzard

I'm out, I've slept all day I need a walk in fresh air tonight first snow comes down pounders my good coat melts on the street and my shoes get soaked hey blizzard light up the sky light up the ground

'cause it's nice to see I've got a long walk ahead of me come down and bury me last night my love shut the door her yelling started in the hall and ended in the kitchen and made no sense at all it's all been said before hey blizzard level with me because I'd like to feel how you fling down on me cover me up and leave hey blizzard don't get bored you have done this before it feels like we've always been here please make me disappear
