

The Browns, Only The Lonely

Only the lonely will understand why my head is bowed
And only the lonely will feel the way that I'm feeling now
Only the hearts that have felt the pain of love that has slipped away
Will understand the song I sing and the words I say
Only the hearts that have felt the pain of love that has slipped away
Will understand the song I sing and the words I say (and the words I say)
Only the lonely will understand why my head is bowed
And only the lonely will sing the song that I'm singing now