The Damned, I Need A Life

I need your time, I need your soul I need this temperature to go down low Got to realize my word's the truth I never thought that I could lose

But when I get you on the phone My heart is so alone I need a life, I need a life

I've watched you stumble
I've seen you fall
I've picked you up
When you could only crawl
Got to realize my word's the truth
I never thought
That I could lose

But when I get you on the phone My heart is so alone I need a life, I need a life

I need your time, I need your soul I need this temperature to go down low Got to realize my word's the truth I never thought that I could lose

But when I get you on the phone My heart is so alone I need a life, I need a life

I've watched you stumble
I've seen you fall
I've picked you up
When you could only crawl
Got to realize my word's the truth
And I never thought that I could lose

But when I get you on the phone My heart is so alone I need a life, I need a life But when I get you on the phone My heart is so alone I need a life, I need a life And when I get you on the phone My heart is so alone
