

The Damned, Stranger On The Town

did you ever see a man turned inside out he can come and go without a sound they say ok when they turn you down

'cos someones always smiling when they really frown chorus

you turf me out can't keep me down

'cos i'm a stranger on the town don't put me down and i only want a place to rest my head but if looks could kill i might as well be dead get me on my feet, take me to the door i'll face the law might even get a bed repeat chorus twice

don't need me, won't feed me now just say the word, just smile as i'm thrown out repeat chorus and the city's new, so the faces change i know they're different yet they act the same i've read the script, and i know the score i know it's only time before i'm shown the door

i've got some money, so do you love me now ?

now will you run me out, and they wonder why i shout even in a crowd when you're all alone it's so far from home there's faces all around they stare mean and proud, you've gotta get away you gotta get away so i'm a stranger, and though you put me down you know i aint no clown, and you're a stranger

'cause i'll see you around when the chips are down and i'm a stranger on the town.... ooh ooh the city's new, the faces change

and i only wanna place to rest my head if looks could kill i might as well be dead
'cos i'm a stranger on the town, yes i am and everyone tries to put you down nobody wants to have you around
