The Dandy Warhols, Genius

I'll take the blame If I ever want to For what my little brain Has been through I know I say Things I never meant to To seem a little more sane 'Cause that's what it takes If I ever could win If I ever could see If I just could ever Remember to think About anything Darling, give me a rope I'll hang myself It doesn't take a genius To figure it out Don't have to be fucking brilliant to see I'm not as smart as I seem to be I'm not as bright as I used to be I'm not as sharp as I think I am I'm not as smart as I seem I'm not as bright as I seem

Darling darling darling Darling, give me a rope I'll hang my self It doesn't take a genius To figure it out Don't have to be fucking brilliant to see I'm not as smart as I seem to be I'm not as bright as I used to be I'm not as sharp as I think I am I'm not as smart as I seem I'm not as bright as I seem
