

THE DEFILED, Five Minutes

been here by your side god I hope you'll fight and carry on all my life I've known nothing else but you to be my own you are my home

and it's breaking me
I cannot bear the thought I'm still holding on to some idea that is supernatural and I can't believe that there's nothing left to say

and I hold this pain inside my chest and it won't go away

unbelievable
when there is nothing left to do
I got this all pouring out of me, how I'm missing you sometimes I feel alright but that feeling it just comes and it goes it always goes

oh it's draining me the idea that you've gone for sure for evermore

and it's breaking me
I cannot bear the thought
I'm still holding on to some idea and it's supernatural

and I can't believe
that there's nothing left to say
and I hold this pain inside my chest and it won't go away

unbelievable
when there is nothing left to do
I got this all pouring out of me, how I'm missing you

and I can't believe
that there's nothing left to say
and I hold this pain inside my chest and it won't go away

unbelievable
when there is nothing left to do
I got this all pouring out of me, how I'm missing you