

The Killers, Fire in Bone

i felt cast out
i felt eighty-sixed I felt darkness

but I felt fire in bone
I felt no good
I felt lowdown
and I felt alone
I felt unknown
but I felt fire in bone
I felt fire in bone
wrongly accused and disowned then I felt fire in bone when I came back empty-handed you were waiting n the road and you fell on my neck

and you took me back home
after all that I took from you
after all that I put through
here I am

I felt big time
I felt major league
I felt weired sin
but I felt fire in bone
I felt ripped off
run down, wrung out
empty, unseen
and preyed upon
but I felt fire in bone
I felt fire in bone

they say no one's gonna save you you've gotta make it on your own
but I called from the dark and you picked up the phone on my back in the raging blue I looked up, and you cut right through
here I am

I felt washed up
I felt tempest-tossed and seasick
but I felt fire in bone
I felt mislead
I felt chained up
unclear, unknown
I felt unknown
but I felt fire in bone
I felt fire in bone

here I am

I put through
here I am
