

The Kroach, Lullaby

I am watching over you while you're crawling like you've never been before all those good times they are passing fester than you've through we're all long gone

I know
We've been killing ourselves for so damn long
I know
it's the end of our world stranded by feeling of warmth coldness surrounds me like there's nothing at all the empty sound-it-will ring through the night so I am tryin' to hide what's deep inside but no one cares at least I see who's pulling strings in our minds for what we're here why can we breathe

the cages are locked there is no way out-no way out cries In despair,
I know cannot help
we are falling apart can someone finally reveal the truth about the sentence which is life it's over your body someday it will be rotten the fiction called life will be forgotten the soul , it will in others minds you can finally reach the stars
