

The Morning Of, You Vs. The World

Dear, old friend
It's so sad to see you fall
As you build your demise
In the white powdered walls
Dear, old friend
It's so sad to see you fall
I'm praying to god
For some way to stop this all
To the broken, the lost and hurt
If you feel like its you vs. the world
Just know, we're on your side
I offer a willing ear and open arms
I know just what you're feeling like
But you can not run your past
I'm always here if you need me
We're always here to be your crutch
You're more than vapor and shadow
And you're better than this side
To the broken, the lost and hurt
If you feel like its you vs. the world
Just know, we're on your side
Just know, we're on your side
Just know, we're on your side
We wish for you the best
Even sunshine burns if you get too much
We're always here to hold you up
Even sunshine burns if you get too much
We're always here to be your crutch
Even sunshine burns if you get too much
We're always here to hold you up
Even sunshine burns if you get too much
We're always here to be your crutch
Even sunshine burns if you get too much
We're always here to hold you up
Even sunshine burns if you get too much
We're always here to hold you up
Just know, we're on your side
Just know, we're on your side
Just know, we're on your side
