

The Scenic, Color By Numbers

It's been over half a year, and these same old stupid love songs have not lost their appeal I am stuck here hanging on, to every stupid word and every stupid song I just don't know anymore
I'm a bit more confused than I have ever been before Now show me the difference in between what I want and what I need because I can't tell anymore Now enter number two, lets complicate the situation by doing everything we know we should not do I would be a liar if I said this wasn't the hardest thing that I have ever done before I know just what I have to do, never been to good at telling the truth
I know just what I have to do, tell the truth