

The Swellers, I Notice Everything (George's Song)

I have you as a friend, it's better than nothing
You say there's nothing inside of you, but I see something
Your sadness never made me that sad anyway
I know it's the chemicals that give you cloudy skies everyday

I notice everything
Like the way your eyes blink whenever you start to laugh
I notice everything
Like when you're driving with your knees and your foot dangles over the mat
I notice that you're here, and I would notice that you're gone
Please don't drive off a cliff with your knees tonight

I have you as a friend, it's better than nothing
You say there's nothing inside of you, but I see something
I care when you're feeling down
I care, I care, if you're breathing now, I care

I notice everything
Like the way your eyes blink whenever you start to laugh
I notice everything
Like when you're driving with your knees and your foot dangles over the mat
I notice that you're here, and I would notice that you're gone
Please don't drive off a cliff with your knees tonight
Please don't drive off a cliff with your knees tonight
Please don't drive off a cliff with your knees tonight
Please don't drive off a cliff with your knees tonight
