

The Tragically Hip, Everytime You Go

well, it's 7 am and she awoke by the radio yea she rolled on over and said, "where did man go all her life now she fights when she's able for the sake of the kids when the knife's at their neck in t i'll believe in you or i'll be leaving you tonight i will believe in you or i'll be leaving you tonight well she's got all the kids and she's got all their uses but she loves them the same for neglect and a where they fought and they made up last evening he said, "don't read too much into the fact t
leaving you tonight i will believe in you or i'll be leaving you tonight how do i explain this i mean how do i put this into words it's one thing or another but it's neither this collection of things she said, "that's it, that's it, get out" well her mother said, "kill him, slow at your leisure" ah but desperate times, call for desp closet and she pulled the old gun down "i'll put a bullet through his heart if he ain't home by s walking in the front door smiling he said, "don't read too much into what i ain't denying"
leaving you tonight i will believe in you or i'll be leaving you tonight well i believe in you
