

The Twilight Singers, Railroad Lullaby

do you remember when i told you that i had a tale to tell?
let me regale you, child about a life spent on the rail forget me not, don't forget it cuz i'll be gone in a minute... and whenever the drugstore man used to come around i'd bite my lip
and then i'd take myself to town
cuz i'll be gone in a minute... don't call me no more, no more nobody ever needs ya when you're this far gone now you say the train's a'comin' but i don't see it on the track last train's eleven and it ain't comin' back forget me not . . .
