The Veronicas, On Your Side

If we knew then what we do now We'd hold our hands and take a bow Together we would stand our ground and fight

I remember the night we got drunk I got sick on the subway With your hands on my face It don't matter babe, cause I'm always on your side"

Life isn't pretty we all get a little wrecked sometimes If God's listening, people think you're out of your mind Even if you believe it Through all the hard times I'm on your side On your side I'm on your side On your side On your side

I still wear your T-shirt out All the ink is faded now I wonder who you're dreaming of... tonight

I remember the night When you packed all your bags in the doorway Said, "I don't wanna fight, you can leave, but remember I'm always on your side"

Life isn't pretty we all get a little wrecked sometimes If God's listening, people think you're out of your mind Even if you believe it Through all the hard times I'm on your side On your side I'm on your side On your side On your side

On your side
Life isn't pretty we all get a little wrecked sometimes
If God's listening, people think you're out of your mind
Even if you believe it
Through all the hard times
I'm on your side
