

The Zutons, Confusion

It's funny how it tears me apart,
Well first it breaks it your head then your heart,
I should have loved you better,
From the start,

It's chewin' at my bones and my brains,
It's workin' through the flesh that remains,
Why can't this feeling leave me,
And just fade away?

From day one, I led you on,
I'm sorry girl but I can't stay,
Things have changed, they're not the same,
Now i must walk the other way.

Confusion raining down from up high,
And all the time you ask yourself why,
Why can't you make decisions,
Can't make up your mind.

Although you're trying hard to forget,
The reason why you feel so mislead,
Now come on and forgive me,
I'll help you accept.

From day one, I led you on,
I'm sorry girl but I can't stay,
Things have changed, they're not the same,
Now i must walk the other way. (x2)