Three Days Grace, On My Own

I walk alone Think of home Memories of long ago No one knows I lost My soul long ago

Lied too much She said that she's had enough Am I too much She said that she's had enough

Standing on my own Remembering the one I left at home Forget about the life I used to know Forget about the one I left at home

I need to run far away Can't go back to that place Like she told me I'm just a big disgrace

Lied too much She said that she's had enough Am I too much She said that she's had enough

Standing on my own
Remembering the one I left at home
Forget about the life I used to know
Forget about the one I left at home
So now I'm standing here alone
I'm learning how to live life on my own

Lied too much I think that I've had enough Am I too much She said that she's had enough

I'm standing on my own
Remembering the one I left at home
Forget about the life I used to know
Forget about the one I left at home
So now I'm standing here alone
I'm learning how to live life on my own
Forget about the past I'll never know
Forget about the one I left at home
