

Thy Disease, Global Technocratic Prison

Breaching the divide between mind and overmind,
corrupt dead souls whisper chaotic illumination
into the hearts of psychopathic powerseekers.
Science replaces the unconditional love of the parent.

Between embodiment and disembodiment.

We have created the global technocratic prison,
through the old biblical promise of heaven

We have created the global technocratic prison,
through the old biblical promise ...

Shadow government is exactly that;
an influencing force
from the shadows of
our unexplored sick subconscious,
factory farming us for our pain.

This hidden force occupies the space between embodiment and disembodiment, designed to keep sleeping consciousness in a prison of its own creation.

Disembodied attention eaters blow images into the minds of the hating weak, motivating them toward torture and destruction.

We have created the global technocratic prison,
through the old biblical promise of heaven

We have created the global technocratic prison,
through the old biblical promise ...

No dark cabal.