

Tiamat, Thirst Snake

Your arms are my cradle, your hair is the heavenly abode
My longing for touching your skin bears a heavy load
I wanna bathe you my love in broad heavens of divine light
A precious angel you are of the bodies of celestial might

Your eyes are lighting up the skies like the chariots of fire
Let me take you there tonight, take you higher and higher

Without you it's all dim and dire
Your poison burns like fire
My eyes are closed and all I see is you

Until the daylight spreads its horror and us once again reviles
May the gods of the night let me stay in your heart for a while

Without you it's all dim and dire
Your poison burns like fire
My eyes are closed and all I see is you

I want you, I want you
I don't wanna let you go away