

Tina Turner, When The Heartache Is Over

Once in a lifetime you find
Someone to show you the way
Someone to make your decisions
I let you lead me astray

Who did you think you were fooling
Said you were missing
But the truth is I knew you were lying
You were using me time to time

When the heartache is over
I know I won't be missing you
Won't look over your shoulder
Cause I know that I can live without you

Oh, live without you
Oh, I can live without you

Trying to move on
Leaving the past all behind
I can make my own decisions
It's only a matter of time

Sometimes I look like an angel
Thinking about all the pain
But I know that I'm stronger without you
And that I'll never need you again
