

Tove Styrke, Start Walking

Imagine how good you could feel right now
If I was a stranger
Instead of your baby

We're scary good at letting each other down
If I cut the chains
You might thank me later
We both know what we both need to do
But we just don't want to

Say the words
No one wants to say the words
We're holding on to nothing
But nobody here is talking
Say the words
Either way it's gonna hurt
We're staring at the problem
But somebody's gotta start walking
I'm walking away
Walking
I'm walking away
Walking /3x

Imagine we woke up in different worlds
With no one to bite back
Maybe you'd like that

I ain't scared of feeling loneliness
I am scared of watching my life pass
While I make something bad last
You might thank me later
We both know what we both need to do
But we just don't want to

Say the words
No one wants to say the words
We're holding on to nothing
But nobody here is talking
Say the words
Either way it's gonna hurt
But somebody's gotta start walking
I'm walking away
Walking
I'm walking away
Walking /3x
