

Treaty Oak Revival, Chasing My Tail

Well I ain't the kind to run away
I ain't the kind to make you stay
'Cause I'm just gonna break your heart
Or you'll break mine, I know this part
So I think it's time to run away

Why do I pick myself up just to get torn down
I keep kicking my own ass
Just to come back another round
And It feels like I can't help myself with setting up to fail
If you need me I'll be wasting my time
Chasing my tail
Chasing my tail

So go ahead and ends things first
'Cause I tend to wait until it hurts
And the version of me that you get
Will always just be second best
And I hope that you don't wait to see my worst

And why do I pick myself up just to get torn down
I keep kicking my own ass
Just to come back another round
And It seems like I can't help myself with setting up to fail
If you need me I'll be wasting my time
Chasing my tail
Chasing my tail

Honey don't feel sorry for me
'Cause I can do that all by myself
I'll keep running round in circles
Till you leave me standing still

Why do I pick myself up just to get torn down
I keep kicking my own ass
Just to come back another round
And It feels like I can't help myself with setting up to fail
If you need me I'll be wasting my time
Oh if you need me I'll be wasting my time