

Tree63, All Because

I wanna say the story straight
It's time to tell the truth
I never could have come so far
If it were not for you

You covered up my sin
You covered up my silence
You covered up my shame
Made me new again

It's all because of you
It's all because of you

They tell me to abandon you
To make my dreams come true
So what am I supposed to do
If I only dream of you?

You covered up my sin
You covered up my silence
You covered up my shame
Made me new again

It's all because of you
It's all because of you
It's all because of you
It's all because of you
It's all because of you
It's all because of you
It's all because of you