

Trentemoller, Redefine

Redefine
Roses and Vine curling up around my leg roots and juice

I will not hear What they said before was just a lie and I was a mess

Falling apart in December
Now that it's noon in September
I can reach you calling again and I take what I've been missing

Sheen in you eyes
Strong as the tide
And I know you will glow when the spring turn to wings and I won't be alone oh we tossed the sins of centuries

Come on, come on, come on.....sing with me

Falling apart in December
Now that it's noon in September
I can reach you calling again and
I take what I've been missing
