

Trivium, Catastrophist

who has the means to save us from ourselves to pull us from the vicious cycles feeding back again

consume and fees
degenerate
we damage just to liberate bought and sold before we could even breathe

I feel like we're falling a lifeline just out of our reach I feel our collapsing the arrogant numb to our needs

you're a catastrophe
the one who's come to devastate catastrophist
you stole our innocence

we never had a chance

how far along before we fade away so deeply out of focus but it seems we never cared deflect, deny, what flows inside the poison springs internalize

the bringer of our devastation
it's you, catastrophist
