

U2, Don't come knocking

You're everything I could want There's no house you couldn't haunt You're the key that could keep me