

UFly, White Rain

night has come ? where are you now, my love?
Rain fall down ? where are you now, my love?

another day slips out from my hands in the dark of hope I?m trying to hide my face

unspoken words have frozen in my mouth
I?m holding things still warm to your touch
I would give it all for just one chance to feel your head, to feel your hands on the pillow of my heart

night has come ? where are you now, my love?
Rain fall down ? where are you now, my love?
it?s cold outside ? where are you now, my love?
I had a dream ? where are you now, my love?

There are mornings when I fall out of bed
Leaving the heat of desires
Under the sheet of time
There are days
When I find happiness
Then hide it in a pocket full of holes

night has come ? where are you now, my love?
Rain fall down ? where are you now, my love?
it?s cold outside ? where are you now, my love?
I had a dream ? where are you now, my love?