

ukeboy, Heavy Rain

i am walking during the rain to the hotel I 'm looking at the strange town of cement the water is attacking the top of the tram and bored people are looking out windows frames

I feel there's my home but only I know that's it's for real the time stopped and my brain's killing heart my heart feels bad, I know the black thoughts whit gray clouds killed the sun

I have no choice, they: said
:you must keep calm"

Every hurt heart just have to bleed What if the blood of God is the water?

I'm above the clouds and everything they made
I am hanging in the space only wounds remains there's nothing holding me back I don't need to miss my friends no more
no more

we all are bored people we try to be good but nothing means more for us than race to be cool and everybody in this room tries to have more, not to be a fool, short man want to be the tallest because the tallest wanna be the the tallest more we are the kids of our streets there's n question, be or not to be there;s razor blade, it's not for me but I used to use it, now I bleed we should kill this clouds and save the sun take a parachutes and jump apart finally get out the rtram and run finally get out the tram and run straight to our car pack all our things adnd drive city out cuz what if the blood of God is the water?

I'm above the clouds and everything they made
I am hanging in the space
only wounds remains
there's nothing holding me back
I don't need to miss my friends
no more
I am just lying on this floor again

--

"Heavy Rain" to pierwszy singel z wydawnictwa "the sun has gone".