

Ultravox, Live

time will find a way
a way to make your world go round present an empty day a canvas for your words to paint the things you see a chapter still to come don't you know that every picture holds a story

don't you know you'll learn to live again soon to find your road to everything
don't you know you'll learn to live again

i've seen it all before the emptiness and empty heart bewildered and unsure one moment and it's gone release and set you free to cast away your ties to radiate and shine to light your path to glory

don't you know you'll learn to live again
soon to find your road to everything
don't you know you'll learn to live again

time will find a way
i've seen it all before

don't you know you'll learn to live again
soon to find your road to everything
don't you know you'll learn to live again