

Vandroya, Maya

I close my eyes, kissed by the morning sun, it's first rays of light
Wondering why I am walking in this earth
There was dark night, the deepest pain, why I've been so blind?
Winters of ice, illusions of this world

Can you hear the silent screams?
Can you hear the melody of the universe?
Pulsing through the sounds of time
Don't fear the dark

Save me, I'm falling inside
The black hole that binds me to pride
I'm in the dark
Heal me, throw me on your light
Destroying Maya on my mind
Out of the dark, out of the dark

Sparkles of tears, emerging fears born in my crushed pride
Sharpened as spears, mesmerizing words tracking its light
Driven away, I seek in my sorrows the key to wash my sins
My soul in pain cries like thunders in the sky

Innocence,
Time is reversed to take back those living scars
Shining drops of hope washing those sacred eyes
No more the dark

Save me, I'm falling inside
The black hole that binds me to pride
I'm in the dark
Heal me, throw me on your light
Destroying Maya on my mind
Out of the dark, out of the dark