

Velvet Belly, Drift

music : Velvet Belly lyrics : Lucia Van der Drift

This room is full of clouds
I can feel them
Coming up from behind me
I am nailed to the ground
That is eating my energy
We are losing touch
I suppose I am all alone and
I am free

And as he passes the road we're through
No mystical silence, it is done
We have opened the perspective
Have been deep and far
And now we are back again

Energy abandoned me
By the tail that once was there
It has left my mind limp
Through time and air
I cannot feel any connections
With the ones I love and loved
I am all alone and I suppose
I am free

And as he passes the road we're through
No mystical silence, it is done
We have opened the perspective
Have been deep and far
And now we are back again

My nerves won't get in touch with my eye
I see him go and I cannot cry
To call him to me
To touch him
He is out of reach
I am all alone and all and freely suppose
He is gone

And as he passes the road we're through
No mystical silence, it is done
We have opened the perspective
Have been deep and far
And now I am here again