Visions Of Atlantis, Wild Elysium

I can feel a rising storm Dreading all the clouds to form All around Not a sound Waiting for the fall

Sadness wins my lonely heart Slowly tearing me apart All is cold Grey and old

Show me the way through the night Show me the way to the gates of delight

Hear my serenade
Give my soul a name
I surrender, my Lord
I have broken my sword
Given all the pain
Will I feel again?
I ascend or I fall
Find a gate or a wall
After all, we can only run
To wild Elysium

Faith, the only shield I hold Waving lights of blues and gold Facing wrongs Standing strong Did it for too long

Courage takes a willing heart Bravery as a work of art I did fight Day and night

I put an end to the strife Ode to the glorious day of my life

Hear my serenade
Give my soul a name
I surrender, my Lord
I have broken my sword
Given all the pain
Will I feel again?
I ascend or I fall
Find a gate or a wall
After all, we can only run
To wild Elysium

Hear my serenade
Give my soul a name
I surrender, my Lord
I have broken my sword
Given all the pain
Will I feel again?
I ascend or I fall
Find a gate or a wall
After all, life has just begun

After all, life has just begun In my Elysium