Waik, The Calling

Just a malignancy, this moment in time Structured brutality, reflected inside Free flowing thoughts avoid me As I focus on the negative The very thing that makes me whole Cut me down in the end

Forget about everything that's know Build foundations begin again The very thing that cut me down Made me whole in the end, wait

It's me again, can you see me Calling, cause I can see you It's me again, can you feel me Calling, cause I can feel you

Slowly adapting, subconscious of mine Innocent ability, to take what is mine Forget about everything that's known Build foundations begin again The very thing that cut me down Made me whole in the end

Too afraid to dream till half my life is gone Let me out, wait, it's me