

Weeping Willows, Falling

It seems like we've run out of words of praise
There's nothing left for us to say
In the beginning there was lust but now
The thrill has gone away

You had my heart and now I want it back
We're nothing more than friends
And when I take a closer look at us
I know we're heading towards the end

Falling
Falling out of love
Falling

I wanna hold you but my arms are numb
The words stay on the tongue
It seems like we are getting ready for the Day we know must come

We watch each other with the saddest eyes
Waiting for a look
The simple things in life are difficult but
Still we have to choose
