

Willie Nelson, Shelter Of Your Arms

Now I lay me down to sleep
And if I sleep, perhaps Ill dream.
If I dream, Ill be with you,
In the shelter of your arms.
I pray that god will lengthen night,
And grant me time before the light.
For the light of day will take me
From the shelter of your arms.

And though I know its just a dream,
A dream that soon must end,
The arms I feel, I know are real,
And Im happy, once again.

If I die, while I am asleep,
I pray my dreams hell let me keep,
And carry me through eternity
In the shelter of your arms.

And though I know its just a dream,
A dream that soon must end,
The arms I feel, I know are real
And Im happy, once again.

And if I die while I am asleep,
I pray my dreams hell let me keep,
And carry me through eternity
In the shelter of your arms
