

Woodkid, Goliath

the chest and the head divided by a with laser
the pattern of mild strobes
you're going haywire
and your eyes light the golden city
and the end of us
you playing your best role
but the mask shatters

where are you going?
boy
when did you get so lost?
how could you be so blind?
how could you be so blind?

a sustained heart pain and a dark fever
how did I get fooled by such a savage curse?
the more I forget, the more it backfires now you're dancing through the smoke
like nothing else matters

where are you going?
boy
when did you get so lost?
how could you be so blind?
how could you be so blind?