

Woodkid, I Love You (a.k.a. Yoann Lemoine)

Where the light shivers offshore
Through the tides of oceans
We are shining in the rising sun
As we are floating in the blue
I am softly watching you
Oh, boy your eyes betray what burns inside you

Whatever I feel for you
You only seem to care about you
Is there any chance you could see me too?
'Cos I love you
Is there anything I could do
Just to get some attention from you?
In the waves I've lost every trace of you
Oh, where are you?

After all i drifted ashore
Through the streams of oceans
Whispers wasted in the sand
As we were ?? in the blue
I was synchronized with you
But now the sound of love is out of tune

Whatever I feel for you
You only seem to care about you
Is there any chance you could see me too?
'Cos I love you
Is there anything I could do
Just to get some attention from you
In the waves I've lost every trace of you
Oh, where are you?