Yaki-Da, Deep In The Jungle

Deep in the jungle, drums are played by hand; They're sending a message few would understand; But I do, 'Cause like in the jungle of emotions, People are getting lost; What is right over time? What should you tell me? Deep in the jungle of emotions, Some things are best unsaid; Hide your past and I stay.

I want to be your number one-Not one in a stupid line; You want to tell me who you are, But, baby, don't push it too far; I wanna be your number one.

I do.

Once in my lifetime,
I'll be standing bride;
Once in my lifetime,
I will say 'I do' to a priest;
I wanna wrap my arms around you,
But all the things you've said,
Bring me down even though I'm glad you told me
Something about your past and future;
But enough is enough;
Now I know what to say.

Don't you think we have to work this out? Do you have to make me scream and shout?

I want to be your number one-Not one in a stupid line; You want to tell me who you are, But, baby, don't push it too far; I wanna be your number one.

Feeling like a stranger-Want you near; Can we make some change here, No more fear? I'm feeling like a stranger; Hah-ah-ah-ah
