Your Demise, All I Never Want To Be

Your regrets are purely yours, don't tag this shit on me Because you're not even half of what I ever want to be

Let it be known as the truth You make me fucking sick Instead of thinking with your mind You've been thinking with your dick

Of every single person that I ever expected of this Let this be your only compliment I never thought you'd make the list

Don't ever say another thing Don't ever fucking look at me Don't ever breath another word You're all I never want to be

You've shown your true self to me
All I never want to be
Now's the time we end you and me
You're all I never want to be
And to this stage we've got, you had to see it through
And you'll always be remembered for something I'd never do

But now you've gone and blown it Sawing hopes clean apart Nothing personal to me But you broke an innocent heart

I know it's no involvement or shit to do with me But now you're everything I've never, ever wanted to be